JOY GREGORY

LOST LANGUAGES
AND OTHER VOICES

11 FEB - 7 MAY

(detail) Palace of Westminster, London, from the series Cinderella Tours Europe © Joy Gregory

Joy Gregory is one of the most significant artists to emerge from the Black British photography movement of the 1980s. This major retrospective brings together 16 bodies of work exploring race, history and gender, encompassing a wide range of photographic media, from digital video installations to Victorian printing techniques.

Gregory was included in our recent group exhibition Liberties and this solo show expands on those ideas while introducing new themes including marginalised indigenous languages. Journeys also feature, with work made in South Africa, the Orkneys, Sri Lanka, and the Caribbean. Identity, a recurring theme throughout Gregory's practice, is explored in Autoportrait, Bottled Blonde, Objects of Beauty and Girl Thing.

Lost Languages and other voices is an Impressions Gallery touring exhibition, curated by Anne McNeill.

EVENT

• Sat 11 Feb 11.00 Joy Gregory will be in conversation with curator Anne McNeill.

TRANSITION 2017

14 FEB - 11 MAR

Transition is an opportunity for artists, or artist groups, to use the gallery space to consider how a series of works is developing or to try out ideas for an installation or interactive project.

Transition gives artists the time and space to take ideas forward in a public environment, aiming to explore conceptual and practical issues, without the constraints of presenting a finalised exhibition. Artists can challenge their practice and take risks concerning their usual working techniques. It offers visitors the chance to see work in a state of flux, meet the artists and discuss the work.

Week One Steve Tanner // Graham Guy-Robinson

Week Two Oliver Udy + Colin Robins // Jones + Kan + Pickles Harvey + Turnbull

Week Three Emma Frankland + Myriddin Wannell // Synnøve Fredericks

Week Four Jo Ball // Ali Corder + Elizabeth Loveday

EVENTS

• Each Thursday at 11.00 join curator Blair Todd and the week's artists for an informal discussion about their work.

PALACE OF CULTURE

18 MAR - 17 APR

Inspired by Eastern European clubhouses for workers, Newlyn Art Gallery will be transformed into an establishment of recreational activity.

Hosted by the Gallery's young artists collective The Collaborators, The Palace of Culture will nourish both body and mind with workshops, performance and other stimulating pursuits designed to fight cultureless leisure.

Each of the four weeks will be programmed by a different Cultural Secretary who will commission a varied selection of activity which could include do it yourself hobby groups, sports, dance, collecting, arts, films, music, literature and amateur theatre.

Week One UNCollective

Week Two Keiken Collective

Week Three Rosie Taylor

Week Four Ella Frears

Weeks one and two of Palace of Culture have been commissioned by Tate St Ives as part of their Circuit programme for young people

EVENTS

• Check our website and social media for updates on each week's programme of events.

WHAT IS THIS PLACE?

22 APR - 15 JUL

The paintings in this exhibition share a sense of improvisation. Like the act of drawing, the works are a way for the artist to work through ideas. Their marks have been made with a speed and spontaneity, executed quickly to capture changing thoughts and ideas.

Some of the artists have been drawn to a particular location, repeatedly, to better understand it. For others, it's the social and political landscape of the world today they are questioning. Memory, and its varied versions of truth, often acts as a source or starting point. From the commonplace to the cosmic, the eight artists in this exhibition are questioning with paint, What is this place?

EVENT

• Sat 22 Apr 11.00 The artists and curator, Blair Todd, discuss the works in the exhibition.

THE ENGINE ROOM SERIES,
THE EXCHANGE

Café Morte

CAFÉ MORTE: THE TEARS OF THINGS

11 FEB - 18 MAR

A growing collection of broken objects to initiate conversation around the emotional value and attachment we have to something that is broken in our lives. The collection will form the beginning of a growing body of research relating to death and loss.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S ART PRIZE

25 MAR - 29 APR

Our annual competition for secondary school and college students from across the county. This year's theme is 'identity', with three age categories for prizes; 11-13, 14-16, and 17-19 years, plus a prize for the Visitors' Vote, which will be awarded at the end of the exhibition.

WE ALL END UP DIFFERENT

25 MAR - 29 APR

A presentation of work created during a textile project with Year 9 students from Humphry Davy School.

ANNUAL VOLUNTEER'S EXHIBITION

5 - 20 MAY

Coinciding with Voluntary Arts Week this exhibition is a celebration of the talents of our diverse group of dedicated volunteers.

SHELLY TREGONING

14 FEB - 11 MAR

Throughout the centuries the beard has been used to convey social status, gravitas, piety, virility, social (non) conformity, or simply current fashion. This collection of tiny works is an observation of bearded faces, each with a story which forms their identity.

SIMON BAYLISS

18 MAR - 17 APR

Based in St Ives, Bayliss' relationship to the Cornish landscape and sea feature strongly in his work, juxtaposed with humorous, erotically charged imagery and text. This exhibition features recent watercolours and a series of slipware mugs and plates.

RACHEL REEVES

22 APR - 3 JUN

A new body of work by Lamorna-based artist Rachel Reeves. This series of painted works is strongly influenced by the landscapes and colours of West Penwith.
