SEEN

23 OCT 2021 – 8 JAN 2022

Seen is co-curated by young LGBTQIA+ people from Cornwall aged between 11 – 19 working in partnership with LGBT+ charity Intercom Trust, and Sharp, Programme Producer.

Through workshops and conversation about contemporary art the young people have explored the importance of representation within art and culture and the many sides of what it means to be seen. The expanding subject of Queer art involves an important history of reclamation, resistance, love and freedom and often explores personal experiences as well as depictions of LGBTQIA+ cultures.

This exhibition increases young LGBTQIA+ people's engagement with contemporary art, allows them to create a platform that speaks to them, for new voices to be heard and for them to be seen.

LGBTQIA+ artists with work from the Arts Council Collection in the exhibition include: Francis Bacon, Flo Brooks, Duncan Grant, Sunil Gupta, Maggi Hambling, David Hockney, Howard Hodgkin, Evan Ilekoya, Michael Craig Martin, David Robilliard, P. Staff, and Wolfgang Tillmans.

In addition, there are new exhibition commissions by LGBTQIA+ artists Rosanne Robertson, and RTiiiKA, plus other works by Claude Cahun, Rebel Dykes, Derek Jarman, Amy Pennington, Sharp, Serena Wadham, and YAY.

An Arts Council Collection National Partners Programme Exhibition.

WHAT LIES BEHIND

23 OCT 2021 – 8 JAN 2022

What Lies Behind is a mixed exhibition featuring works from the Arts Council Collection curated by a core group of 10 participants, referred to the project through social prescribing initiatives in local GP practices. In a series of online meetings, the group chose pieces that reflected their personal experiences and unexpected consequences of isolation, including a deeper engagement with place and the natural world. More than anything the selection reflects their hopes and optimism for the future and a desire to re-engage with the world; to go out, to meet and explore.

What Lies Behind includes textiles, sculpture, installation, photography, prints, paintings, and collage by Chila Burman, Derrick Greaves, Nerys Johnson, Bryan Kneale, Henry Moore, Pablo Picasso, Abigail Reynolds, Emma Talbot, and Edward Weston.

The works reflect the breadth of the collection and date from throughout the Arts Council Collection's 75-year-history. The earliest work, by Edward Weston, dates from 1936 and the most recent is by Abigail Reynold, which was made in 2021.

Presented alongside the loans from the Collection are works made by the group, who worked with artists to learn new creative skills and make work for the exhibition, including a printmaking workshop with artist Naomi Frears.

The project reflects the huge value to be gained from collaborative initiatives between the health and arts sectors and hopes to inspire rich and ongoing collaborations.

Social Prescribing Group

Thank you for your ongoing support of creativity across our community.

We are delighted to be taking art out to nine primary schools, to social prescribing groups, older people, young single parents and marginalised people all over West Cornwall and supporting them to make art. We are also working with the Cornwall Social Prescribing link workers based in GP surgeries to offer non-clinical support for health and wellbeing, and we are proud to say that our social prescribing group are curating our autumn exhibition What Lies Behind.

Our partnerships with the Arts Council Collection, the National Portrait Gallery and the Cornwall Schools Art Collection are not only bringing amazing, prestigious work to Cornwall, but also allowing people to participate, especially those who have been isolated in the last two years.

We are able to do this work, in person and online, because of your support: in donations, shop sales, Supporter and Patron subscriptions and in gift-aiding your admission. By becoming a regular Supporter, for just £25 a year, or a Patron for £250, you are making this work happen. In return you are invited to openings, offered free admission and 10% discount on art, shop, café and event sales, and for Patrons, a Patrons' Diary of events. For details please see our website or ask in the gallery.

Located at both our galleries, our shops stock a range of quality, handmade, and handcrafted work from emerging and established artist / makers, both regionally and nationally, including contemporary ceramics, jewellery, and homewares, such as candles and soaps, which are sourced locally.

Our shops will be supporting LGBTQIA+ makers to complement the Seen exhibition, including limited edition prints from Scotty Gillespie, abstract clay works by Alice Guillaume and slip-cast illustrative ceramics by Louise Madzia.

Come and find some Christmas gift inspiration in our shops, including limited-edition Pantone Pride mugs, locally crafted jewellery from Silver Sapling, and beautiful hand-crafted wool scarfs from Penzance-based Jessye Boulton. We are delighted to have John Mackenzie's fabulous ceramics back in stock at both shops as well as new pieces by Jode Pankhurst, perfect for gifting, or treating yourself.

Gallery Supporters and Patrons receive a 10% discount on shop, café and Picture Room purchases.
